

Primary care losing in the Match

Over the past five years, fewer American medical seniors have chosen primary care tracks in the Match. Family practice has been the hardest hit, and many seniors who opt for internal medicine go on to subspecialize.

*Includes categorical, primary and med-peds

Source: National Resident Matching Program 2002 Match Data.